

Vegan and Animal Testing Statement

At Zimpli Kids, our entire range of products are Vegan friendly and Cruelty free. This means that they do not contain any animal derived products and are not tested on animals, either now or in the future.

We like to be transparent with our customers and with this in mind, we feel it is important to note that although Zimpli Kids do not carry out any animal testing on any of its finished products or components, we cannot say with 100% certainty, that every single ingredient has not, at some point historically, been approved for human use, through animal testing via a company other than Zimpli Kids.
